III. Behavioral Health Services

Workforce Development

Jennifer Humphrey provided a status update on workforce development initiatives.

The division contracted with Sage Project Consultants to complete a landscape analysis and key stakeholder surveys related to workforce over the spring/summer months and are finalizing the short-term and long-term next steps related to the outcomes of that first phase. Some examples of next steps include: 1) creating a website or webpage to provide career development resources for individuals interested in the behavioral health field for employment and what they need to know for training opportunities and resources and how to incentivize their interest in the field; 2) supporting clinical supervisors; 3) developing a stakeholder workgroup.

The division worked with providers on opportunities to repurpose/utilize their existing contracts to support recruitment and retention activities with the understanding that they won't be able to draw down their contracts and deliver services without having the workforce to do so.

The division received one-time block grant training/technical assistance funds that must be utilized by September 2024. The division utilizes provider surveys to better understand their training and technical assistance needs and also works with the Council of Community Behavioral Health providers to identify their training priorities for staff.

Office of Treatment and Support Services

Michelle Worden provided a status update on peer support services & evidence-based practices.

Three Community Mental Health Centers (Capital Area Counseling Services (CACS) in Pierre, Lewis & Clark Behavioral Health Services in Yankton and Southeastern Behavioral Healthcare in Sioux Falls) have each hired a part-time peer support specialist who are working between 13-36 hours per week. They are currently delivering services and have served approximately 84 clients to date. They have been trained and onboarded, utilizing either Center for the Application of Substance Abuse Technologies (CASAT) or Appalachian Consulting Group (ACG) Peer 101 trainings. The peer support specialists are being utilized in some of the following capacities: sharing recourses and building skills, mentoring and assisting with setting goals, providing services and leading recovery groups, and advocating for people in recovery.

CACS provided the following statement about how they are currently utilizing their peer support specialist: "Our peer support specialist uses her own experience to guide the client through his/her recovery. She connects clients to resources, promotes wellness and self-directed recovery, attends appointments with clients (medical, behavioral health services, etc.), educates through lived experiences, and provides mental health support." The following statement is from a client receiving peer support services at CACS: "She helps people out with what they want to do. She doesn't really tell you what to do, but she helps people with what they want. She is friendly and warm and not demanding. She is calm."

The division held listening sessions with substance use disorder treatment providers to gauge additional interested in providing peer support services and are actively working towards expanding our pilot efforts.

Community Mental Health Centers have for years offered a wide array of evidence-based practices (EBPs) for youth with serious emotional disturbance. This year the division is working to expand these and other EBPs for potential utilization for justice-involved youth. Core services of Functional Family Therapy, Moral Reconation Therapy and Aggression Replacement Therapy are still being offered, but providers have additional flexibility to offer other EBPs to these youth. Examples include Eye Movement Desensitization and Reprocessing (EMDR), Trauma-Focused Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, and Accelerated Resolution Therapy, as well as motivational interviewing, Dialectical Behavior Therapy, and Brief Strategic Family Therapy (BSFT).

Office of Prevention & Crisis Services

Vanessa Barnes provided a status update on crisis services, suicide prevention and substance use prevention initiatives.

Crisis Services

The 988 Lifeline added American Sign Language (ASL) services for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing community to reach trained crisis counselors 24/7. With these new services, Deaf and Hard of Hearing people who need support can dial 988 directly using their videophone or visit the 988lifeline.org website and follow the ASL prompts.

The division received a new 988 improvement grant starting on 9/30/23 that will allow us to expand follow-up care for the 988-call center as well as 988 marketing and awareness efforts.

The division received a new grant to build rural mobile crisis response capacity, targeting the areas served by Lewis & Clark Behavioral Health Services in Yankton, Southern Plains Behavioral Health Services in Winner and Three Rivers Mental Health Center in Lemmon. Avel eCare continues to be utilized and expanded to Lower Brule, Yankton and Union Counties in the fall of 2023. The division is working to expand Avel eCare further by assessing gap areas in the state as well as counties that are experiencing higher rates of suicide.

Appropriate Regional Facilities at Pivot Point in Rapid City, The Human Service Agency in Watertown and Lewis & Clark Behavioral Health Services (LCBHS) in Yankton are all operational. LCBHS broke ground for their new facility in May 2023 and Avera St. Luke's in Yankton is currently working on the renovation of their existing building. A funding opportunity for the remaining ARPA (American Rescue Plan Act) dollars was released in September.

Suicide Prevention

The Third Annual Suicide Prevention Conference is scheduled for August 1st and 2nd, 2023.

Substance Use Prevention

The Department of Social Services and the Department of Health are working together to train all state employees the administration of Naloxone and each office equipped with Naloxone and a NaloxBox.

PROJECT RECOVERY

Youth Substance Use Prevention

Engaging Students to be Allies

December 18, 2020: The Director of our agency developed a relationship with the School Resource Officer at a local elementary school. The officer contacted the agency regarding a student vaping at school. The student was a 5th grader who brought his dad's vape pen to school and used it on the playground during recess. The Resource Officer and agency staff met with the student, the school Social Worker and the Assistant Principal to explain the legal problem of having his father's vape pen. It was learned the student was afraid of what his dad would say when he found out the student took his vape pen to school. Agency staff helped the student determine how to tell his father. The student was really bright and engaged so he was provided education regarding vapor vs. aerosol including an analogy of making fry bread regarding his brain development and the impact of nicotine use, which he understood.

The student said there was no school-wide awareness posters or visuals about the dangers of vaping. Due to the rapport with a student, he was asked to "evaluate" vaping posters to see if they would be appropriate for his school. He read them all and said they would be "awesome." The student was asked if he would be the resource at his school to get out the information. He was so excited. His assignment was to work with the social worker to determine where to display the posters. The student asked me if he could be the "assistant drug counselor" at his school. It was so hopeful to see the student enthusiastically engaging with agency staff and wanting to spread a positive message.

Suicide Prevention

Caring for the Next Generation

January 3, 2022: Watertown Healthy Youth (WHY) educates young people and parents on risky behaviors that can affect the health and safety of children and teens. The coalition works to change social behaviors in the community, as well as attitudes that tolerate underage drinking and risk-taking behaviors. WHY educates the community about best practices in prevention to address underage drinking, the dangers of binge drinking, and other drug use or social issues that affect young people. The coalition points to the implementation in 2011 of the Communities Mobilizing for Change on Alcohol and Project Schools Using Coordinated Community Efforts to Strengthen Students (SUCCESS) for a significant decline in measured alcohol and drug use. Community meetings hosted by the coalition have focused on prescription drugs, binge drinking, illegal drug use, underage drinking, vaping, gateway drugs, and how alcohol and tobacco companies target young people. If caring for the next generation is a measure of a community's heart, Watertown Healthy Youth is doing things right.

Giving a Family a Focus

January 3, 2022: Glacial Lakes Suicide Awareness for Everyone (SAFE) walk participants expressed their thanks for the SAFE walk event. One participant expressed it has given their family a focus through the grief and another stated they did not know "all this was out there to help."

Comprehensive Assistance with Recovery and Empowerment (CARE)

What a Change In Her!

December 21, 2020: A client presented with conversion aphonia, a mental health diagnosis where the person only whispers due to psychological distress. She was leery about therapy, but was talked into participating in brainspotting as the client doesn't have to use words during the therapy. Despite extreme social anxiety, the client came from out of town to join a Dialectical Behavior Therapy (DBT) group. The client's husband called the agency and stated, "I don't know what you are doing with her, but what a change in her!" She has been in services for less than six (6) months.

Community Support Services Program: Individualized Mobile Programs of Assertive Community Treatment (IMPACT)

IMPACT Making an Impact

December 21, 2020: This individual is diagnosed with schizoaffective disorder. She began showing symptoms of her mental illness shortly after turning twenty-one. She has been in and out of the state psychiatric hospital over a dozen times due to her mental illness. Shortly after being diagnosed with schizoaffective disorder, she turned to drugs in an attempt to self-medicate her symptoms. Legal charges were filed against her. She struggled with taking her medications as prescribed and would end up back in the hospital. After many admissions to an agency, she was accepted into the Individualized Mobile Programs of Assertive Community Treatment (IMPACT) program. While participating in IMPACT, she was followed by a team of professionals to ensure her needs were being met. Staff met with her two times per day to ensure she was taking her medications correctly. She was taken weekly to the store and scheduled appointments. Staff assisted her with ensuring her physical, mental health, emotional, and social needs were being met. She has successfully stayed out of the hospital for over eight years now. She works part-time and lives independently in the community. She has rewarding relationships and enjoys painting and crafts. She is very thankful to the IMPACT program for assisting her with living the best quality of life she is capable of. She reports she wouldn't be able to live outside the psychiatric hospital without the assistance of an assertive community program such as IMPACT.

Providing Assistance

December, 2023: A 988 caller was heavily crying because of some difficult family problems she was having with her father. She had locked herself in her vehicle while it was running inside her garage and expressed she wanted to die. The 988 worker attempted to process the suicidal thoughts with the caller. While this was occurring another 988 staff member was reaching out to law enforcement to attempt to locate the caller who had refused to specify where she was located. Eventually law enforcement was able to find her general location and send assistance.

During the conversation with the caller, she reported how heartbroken she was that she was going to leave her husband and two boys alone, but that they would be better off without her. The caller then rolled the windows down to hasten her death. At this time law enforcement arrived and was able to keep her from ending her life and take her to the hospital so she could get the help that she very much needed.
