A licensed manufacturer requested the rule change. The change will not replace the current method but will include another way of determining winning outcomes. It is still required to adhere to the SDCL 42-7A and ARSD 48:02.

The proposed Rule Changes on line 26 is to add paragraph number” (7) Notwithstanding any other requirement of this section, the game may determine the outcome by randomly drawing from predetermined pool of prize values to determine win or loss and displaying all wins as a winning combination on the screen. Each outcome contained in the predetermined pool of prize values must be available to be drawn on each play of the game.”

The example presented showed the difference between the current methodology and the new methodology.

- Rule change will not replace the current method. It is another way of determining winning outcomes.
- Still required to adhere to SDCL 42-7A and ARSD 48:02.
- Uses a Random Number Generator to select prize value to determine a win or non-win.
- All wins will then be displayed as winning combinations on the terminal screen.

The proposed rule change will allow for another method for determining out comes of the lineup games. The updated rule will be in-line with other states that allow these types of games.
