Appendix

- Target discount rationale

Investment performance incentives

Align compensation with goal of adding value

- Encourage superior performance
 - Counters underperformance career risk that can discourage efforts to add value
 - Multiyear timeframes encourage investing for the long term
- Encourage retention of successful staff
 - Team is most attractive to other organizations when winning
 - Shifts compensation higher when people more sought and down when losing
- Incentives paid only for added value
- Important to encourage adding value in good and bad markets
 - Added value in down markets more important than in up markets
 - Encourages adding value by reducing risk when markets expensive

Target discount rationale

- Need top caliber people long term
 - Unsuccessful people or job hoppers always available but no bargain, even if free
 - Compensation is too low to recruit veteran high-performers from elsewhere
 - Must develop team internally by training cream of crop local University graduates
 - Takes 15 to 20 years to fully develop seasoned talent
 - If lose talent pipeline or trainers, will jeopardized handoff to next generation
- Our past history and observation of others suggest 70% target
 - Only way to know for sure how large discounts can work is to risk damaging team
 - 50% discount levels in past led to difficulties
 - 30% discount believed significant relative to other high-end professionals
 - Industry subject to intense performance measurement with significant consequences for winning and losing which intensifies desire for financial security
 - Discounts for top SDIC performers may be much larger as industry pay for top quartile performers can be double the median
