Since the Black Hills is now considered the 1st most popular tourist destination and the 3rd post popular place to retire, I was wondering why you are not considering Amtrak, which can be run on our railroad lines, instead of a bike path. Since SD is such a popular destination, there is no Amtrak lines in western SD, which would bring in so many more tourists to our state. We need to look to the future, and another bicycle path and tearing out our rail system isn't going to do it. there are very few people using the Mickelson Trail beautiful that it is ..
