 - Google/web searching; medical practitioners; Department of Social Services; Department of Health; Tribal Relations; Facebook groups; occasionally, schools through teachers or other staff
- The panel discussed that some parents reported that they do not go to the schools because of how districts have previously responded to concerns about their child and they are more likely to go to their physician because of their medical knowledge.
- The panel discussed the possibility of using social media as an avenue to get the information to parents.
 - It was discussed how the majority of people not heavily involved in special education do not know the terms to search for resources.
