Comment from Nelson: Daria has been very patient. He has learned a great deal from her and will miss her guidance and leadership. Thank you personally and from the State Library Board. She will be missed.

Comment from Norling: With Daria’s guidance and leadership, libraries in SD are definitely better than they were 13 years ago, and she has done great job. We appreciate her.

OLD BUSINESS None

NEW BUSINESS Report from President on State Librarian Search
Nelson reported that he has reached out to Secretary Sanderson letting her know the board is ready to do what she feels is necessary.

Bossman relayed that Secretary Sanderson did request a list of librarians who had offered to be on a search committee.

Staff Reports Laura Kelly, Children & Youth Services Coordinator
The Stephanie Miller Davis grant is in its third year supporting summer reading programs in small, rural communities, in partnership with the SD Community Foundation and the SD State Library. They distributed $25,000 to 25 libraries this year. Laura helps coordinate the grant efforts and spread the news to librarians about this grant opportunity. A virtual awards grant ceremony was held in April. The overall impact of this grant has helped establish new literacy programming, the 1000 books before kindergarten program, added much-needed furniture, books, and STEM kits. During the pandemic, they made it possible for libraries to supply take-home kits and activities, plan outdoor activities and host virtual performers.

Our new public library VLOG, Loud Librarians Lead, conducts interviews with librarians across the state who are excited to share their knowledge and expertise. This is an opportunity for them to demonstrate leadership roles and impact other librarians. Interviews are recorded via Zoom and an episode has been posted each month since the beginning of the year.

Shawn Behrends, State Data Coordinator

Last year the State Library contracted with Mile Up Marketing Solutions in Lead, SD to build websites and provide hosting for 40 of our public libraries that did not have websites. We call this the libraries digital/virtual branch because the new library websites provide access to resources such as the library's on-line catalog, e-book collections, and databases. This year an additional 10 libraries are joining the program. The new websites are secure, they meet current accessibility standards and use responsive design to work well on mobile devices. New this year, each of the participating libraries have $150 credit that they can use to make improvements to their sites. This gives them the opportunity to build out their sites by adding things like extra pages, news feed, or an events calendar. This is made possible with federal LSTA funds.

Who-Fi, wireless counter software, increases the accuracy of their wi-fi count and makes it easy to track wi-fi usage in the library. To date we have 76 participating libraries and we hope to continue to add libraries. Unlike the website initiative that is limited by contract, we have a statewide contract for all public libraries to use it. About 30% are not participating. The who-fi support staff walks through the activation process by phone. It is very easy to come onboard and costs the library nothing.

Brenda Hemmelman, Collection Services Librarian

The State Library is looking at purchasing/replacing the following with the ARP funds

- A large scale, v-cradle scanner that will cost about $100,000.
 - Replacing digitization scanner that was purchased in 2012.
- Replacing our microfiche/film readers with newer, more user-friendly machines.
- More content for our Gale e-books database
 - About $80,000
- Additional content for SD Titles to Go
 - Approximately $108,000
- Braille and Talking Book is also looking into a new braille/braille printer.
